OUT OF CONTROL—A young Indianapolis woman, driver of this vehicle, struck the Bay St. Louis Bridge median, lost control of the car and crashed into the outside guard rail, sustaining injuries for which she was treated Tuesday afternoon at Hancock General Hospital emergency room and released. Mississippi Highway Patrolman Earl J. Cox, investigating officer, identified the driver as Candice J. Roberts, 23, and passenger Debra Gill, 24, of Franklin, Indiana. Ms. Gill was not injured, Cox reported. (Staff photo-Edgar Perez)

Fairgrounds seeks regular sheriff's deputy patrols

by JAKE JACOB
The Hancock County Fair Association, plagued by continued vandalism to their buildings, booths, arena, and fixtures, is to ask for increased security patrols from the sheriff's office.

Further, the group has begun advertising for "live-in caretakers" to provide additional security.

Here, it is hoped, one or more couples having a trailer, looking for a place to live, will exchange a free rent situation for security services.

Association President L.J. Breux said Monday his group is faced with running repair bills of between two and three hundred dollars every six weeks to maintain any semblance of security on their main buildings.

Fair to switch to local booths, entertainment

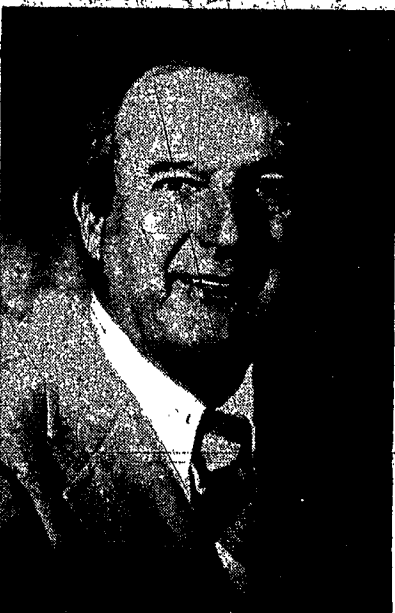

by JAKE JACOB
In a major policy switch, the Hancock County Fair Association on Monday approved the installation of a purely local flavored "midway and entertainment" program for the 1978 County Fair, Sept. 18 through 24.

Under the chairmanship of Pat Murphy of Coast Electric, a committee has been formed to plan both the booth and "midway" area, plus the entertainments section. The latter will be under the chairmanship of Fred Horn.

The association has been considering the change for some years, but the disturbance causing early closure of the 1977 fair put the final fuel on the fire.

Murphy said the new arrangement will give all churches, service and civic organizations, commercial interests, and schools to "get a piece of the action."

He said the midway area will be assigned to the exhibitors and booth operators as early as possible to permit (FAIR POLICY - PAGE 6-A)

Mobile scales in operation

The State Vehicle Comptroller's office, utilizing its mobile scales, was reported weighing trucks moving in the vicinity of the DuPont plant in DeLisle this week, at the request of Harrison County Supervisor Billy McDonald.

McDonald said Wednesday that county authorities had issued tickets to 20 drivers whose units were over the 10-ton secondary road load and eight tons local bridge, weight limits.

Five additional tickets were reported issued Wednesday morning by the motor vehicle's branch to drivers whose trucks were allegedly carrying loads in excess of the state limit.

McDonald reported that truckers involved were upset with his action saying, "The truckers are mad at me but I'm going to make the haul a legal load to protect lives on those roads and bridges."

"If a school bus full of kids goes through one of those bridges after it has been weakened by overweight trucks, everyone will blame me."

The scales are being relocated about once per hour, according to MVC officials.

Oil, DuPont blamed

by JAKE JACOB
Damage to roads being allegedly caused by heavy oil field equipment rigs and overloaded gravel trucks hauling to DuPont, was the subject of considerable debate Monday by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Larry Seal, county engineer, in a letter to the county mentors, said the Bayou La Croix road was surfaced during 1976 with hot bituminous plant mix placed over a six inch clay gravel base.

This design, he said, was to carry local traffic consisting primarily of automobiles at a traffic count estimate of around 100 motor vehicles per day.

Since the completion of the project, the traffic count and loads have drastically increased. This has been due to activity connected with oil field operations. Many of these loads not only exceeded the design for Bayou La Croix Road, but exceeded the statute limit for secondary roads (55,000 pounds), Seal reported.

He said that base failures have occurred at 12 locations, and the entire length of the road has indication of stress cracks which are a prelude to total failure.

In order to replace the road in a condition similar to that in existence before the oil activity began, it will be necessary to not only repair the base failures, but overlay the entire length (COUNTRY ROADS - PAGE 6-A)

Seashore Park stabbing fatal to youth

Hancock traffic accidents leave 3 dead, 10 injured

by EDGAR PEREZ

Three persons died and 10 others were injured as a result of traffic accidents on Hancock County streets and highways during the past week.

And area law enforcement officers are searching for three companions of a 25-year-old man who died Wednesday morning at Gulf Islands National Seashore, Ocean Springs, of an apparent stab wound.

The dead youth carried no identification, according to Noel Pachta, park manager. He said the man's companions fled the scene.

Federal and Jackson County law enforcement officials are investigating the case.

A self-employed tool salesman from Long Beach, well known among Hancock County automobile dealers and repairmen, was killed along with his wife and the driver of a second vehicle in a head-on collision Sunday morning on Interstate-10 some two miles east of State Highway 603.

Mississippi Highway Patrolman Earl J. Cox, investigating officer, identified the dead as Ronald Ritter, 30, of 215 Island View Ave., Long Beach; his wife, Darlene S. Ritter, 28, and Ralph E. Desinger, 68, of Las Vegas, Nev.

One of two white husky dogs in the Ritters' Volkswagen camper was also killed.

Desinger's wife, Genevieve Desinger, also about 68, suffered head and internal injuries and broken bones, Cox reported. She was still unconscious and in intensive care at Gulfport Memorial Hospital late Wednesday.

Cox said he has not been able to get the Desinger woman's version of how the accident happened because of her condition.

The second Ritter dog is being treated for injuries sustained in the accident by a Bay St. Louis veterinarian.

Evidence at the scene of the crash indicates the Ritter vehicle was traveling west in the east-bound lanes of I-10 when the accident occurred about 7 a.m., the officer said.

He said evidence indicates the Ritter vehicle may have entered the wrong lane of the highway after pausing at a nearby rest stop. The officer said he was told the couple had recently set out traveling west out of Slidell.

The highway was blanketed by a dense fog at the time of the accident Sunday morning, Cox reported.

Ritter was a native of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. Ritter, a New Orleans native, was a Long Beach real estate agent.

He is survived by his father, Robert

Ritter, New Orleans, and his mother, Lois Ritter, Grand View, Mo.

Mrs. Ritter is survived by her mother, Mrs. Claire Cowart, Metairie, La.

Their bodies were sent from the Edmund Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis to the Leitz-Eagan Funeral Home, Metairie.

Candice J. Roberts, 23, of Indianapolis, Ind., was treated and released from Hancock General Hospital Tuesday afternoon after the car she was driving crashed into the Bay St. Louis Bridge guard rail.

The Roberts woman apparently lost control of her car after it struck the (THREE DEAD - PAGE 5-A)

City registrar tells hours for re-registration

City Hall, second floor, will be open from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, Saturday, April 7, for the convenience of those wishing to re-register for city elections or referendums, and who cannot do so during office hours, City Clerk and Registrar of Voters, Eddie Engelhorn, announced Monday.

A new registration was made necessary when the city electors voted to change the city's form of government to a mayor-council form and the City was divided into four voting districts instead of three, Engelhorn explained.

"The registrar's office is open 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, including the 'lunch hour' he said."

"There is no way of knowing if a special election will be conducted at any time," Engelhorn continued, "and I urge you to re-register now and avoid the last minute rush."

Deadline for re-registration for city elections is November 1, 1978. All city electors must re-register by that date or their names will not be included in the new poll books," Engelhorn stated, adding that this is solely a city registration and not to be confused with the County

PRJC nursing grads besieged with jobs

A bright future lies ahead for graduates of Pearl River Junior College Associate Degree Nursing Program.

The potential of their profession was made even more vivid Wednesday as 20 nursing institutions from Mississippi and Louisiana converged here to participate in the annual PRC Nursing Career Day.

Without question each of the students in our department will have a choice of at least two and maybe more places for employment," said Charlotte Odom, director of the Pearl River Associate Degree Program.

"There is a demand," Odom said, "and when that type of situation occurs working conditions are usually great."

Most of the institutions presented freely their salary scale and vacation and fringe benefits. It was all down in writing. Salaries ranged anywhere from $900 to $1000 per month for a new graduate. And that did not include extras for shift differentials, moving expenses, new graduate bonuses in some cases.

Work schedules are based on a 40 hour week. Six to eight paid holidays a year, 12 to 36 sick leave days per year, and discounts for life insurance, hospitalization, food and merit increases were also very lucrative offers.

It appears the only obstacle facing the PRC graduates will be passing state examinations for an accredited license. The tests are tough but the majority pass their first time. If an individual fails however, they are allowed to take it again and again if necessary.

Most of the graduates will go to work immediately, operating on a temporary license until the state board examinations are reported. Pearl River College admits and can handle 70 freshmen each year. The cutoff date for this fall is April 15 and at this time only 20 have been officially admitted. Of course a number of others have registered but the admission committee has not acted. According to Mrs. Odom there are several openings still available in the PRC program for next fall. All forms must be completed by the April 15 deadline.

Three dead...

bridge median, according to investigating officer Cox.

A passenger in the car, Debra Gill, 24, of Franklin, Ind., apparently was not injured, the officer reported.

Crosby Memorial Hospital in Picayune Wednesday reported Julius Campanole of Rt. 3, Box 313-A, Kiln, in good condition, recovering from lacerations, bruises and a fractured rib suffered in a Friday night collision between his truck and a car on Hwy 603.

Campanole was headed south on the highway about 6 p.m. pulling an empty horse trailer when he was struck head-on, according to Patrolman Cox who investigated the accident.

The officer said a car driven by James J. Oatis, 43, of Gulfport, attempted to pass a third vehicle when he crashed into the Campanole truck.

Oatis and three passengers were also injured in the accident, police said.

Maxine DeRocha, director of nursing at Hancock General Hospital, reported Wednesday that Oatis was treated in the hospital's emergency room and released.

Jesse Mitchell, 32, of Gulfport, was listed in critical condition when he was transferred to Charity Hospital in New Orleans.

J. W. Patton, 40, and David Lee Oatis, 55, also both of Gulfport and passengers in the Oatis vehicle, were listed in fair condition when they were transferred to Coast Community Hospital in Biloxi.

Cox reported the accident occurred about a half-mile north of the Shell Service Station in Kiln.

Waveland police cited two drivers with driving under the influence and reckless driving and a third with failure to yield after three weekend accidents in that city, according to Police Chief Donald Dorn.

Arnold A. Jackson, 23, Rt. 2, Box 413, Bay St. Louis, was treated for lacerations at Hancock General Hospital Friday night after a 5 p.m., single vehicle crash on Central Avenue near Pine Ridge Road.

Assistant Chief Eugene Hughes,

investigating officer, said Jackson's vehicle left the roadway and struck a culvert.

Jackson was charged with DUI, reckless driving and causing an accident, according to Hughes.

A passenger in the Jackson vehicle, David C. Bennett, 22, also of Rt. 2, Box 413, Bay St. Louis, was charged with drunk in public, the officer reported.

Driving under the influence and reckless driving charges were also lodged against Ernest E. Hartman, 29, of Lakeland, Fla., driver of a rented van involved in a two-car crash on US-90 near Little Caesar's about 1:37 a.m. Sunday.

Police said Hartman's van struck the rear of a foreign sports car driven by Betty A. Noto, 34, of 201 Second St., Bay St. Louis.

Both cars were traveling west on the highway when the accident occurred, according to Allen James and Robert Tartavouille, investigating officers.

In another Waveland crash about 11:15 p.m. Saturday at the Waveland Avenue-US-90 intersection, two persons were injured, according to police.

Vickie Chauncy, 19, of Belle Chase, La., passenger in a truck driven by her husband, James A. Chauncy, 21, also of Belle Chase, was treated at Hancock General Hospital for undetermined injuries, police said.

Also injured in the two-truck collision was Bruce Allen (Sam) Gaddie, 23, of 216 Water St., Waveland.

Gaddie suffered a head laceration but refused medical attention at the scene.

Investigating Patrolman Oscar Thomas said a truck driven by Roger P. Giveans, 27, of Shoreline Park, and headed south on Waveland Avenue struck the truck being driven east on US-90 by Chauncy.

Giveans' wife and daughter, passengers in his truck, were reported uninjured in the incident.

Officers said Gaddie was also a passenger in the Giveans' truck.

Giveans was charged with failure to yield, police said.

Menge Avenue bridge reopens

by EDGAR PEREZ

The Menge Avenue bridge over Wolf River north of Pass, Christian, also known as Rouse Bridge, was reopened to light traffic Wednesday afternoon after having been closed since last Thursday due to fire damage.

Billy McDonald, Harrison County's district three supervisor, said he opened the bridge under a three ton load limit on recommendation of consulting engineer Max Huff of Jackson.

McDonald emphasized the load limit on the bridge will be strictly enforced. The limit restricts bridge traffic to autos and other light vehicles, the supervisor noted.

McDonald said he called in Huff, a former State Highway Department bridge engineer, to inspect the burned wooden bridge after it was determined damage was not as serious as originally believed.

Repairs will not be necessary as long as traffic remains light, the engineer reported.

McDonald said even though repairs are not necessary on the damaged wooden structure, he will proceed with plans to construct a new concrete bridge at that location on Menge Avenue south of I-10.

He said the new bridge will be financed with either state aid funds or Hancock County Development Commission money. Cost estimates have been given in the neighborhood of $250,000.

Closure of the bridge during the past week followed a fire of undetermined origin Thursday afternoon which "charred plings about a quarter-inch deep," according to a Harrison County engineer.

McDonald said drivers hauling material to and from the DuPont company's DeLisle plant who continue to use the Rouse Bridge "will be endangering peoples' lives."

"We'll just have to take these truck drivers to county court," McDonald stressed.

Harrison County supervisors voted Friday to put the building of a new Rouse Bridge and the improvement of its approaches at the head of the list for state aid allocations.

McDonald said Menge Avenue and the old wooden bridge will remain open during construction of the new bridge.

Farm Family Program seeks '78 applicants

The Centennial Farm Family Program, begun in 1976 by the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, the Bi-Centennial Commissioner, the Governor's Office, and the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, is progressing well, according to Commissioner Jim Buck Ross, MDAC, with over 75 certificates having been presented to families whose farms have been in continuous operation by the same family for 100 years or more.

More than 300 application forms have been mailed in response to requests, and some applications are now being processed. Your family farm might qualify for a Centennial Farm Family Certificate, and you can receive information including the rules and regulations governing the program by writing to: Centennial Farm Family Program, P. O. Box 1609, Jackson, Mississippi 39205.

This is an ongoing program which continues year after year, and among those whose farms did not qualify last year, there may be some which would qualify at this time or possibly at a later date.

The MDAC is also looking for farm families who have continuously owned and operated the same farm or ranch for 200 years or more. This program is in conjunction with the Centennial Farm Family Program.

Rules and regulations governing the Bi-Centennial Farm Family Program are the same as those governing the Centennial Farm Family Program.

If your farm has been in your family for 200 years or more, or for 100 years or more, please write to the above listed address, and we will be happy to send you the rules and regulations governing the Centennial Farm Family Program.

Letters to the Editor

Pilgrimage lauded

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Ms.

Dear Sir:

This is to say what a real pleasure it was to have the privilege of touring the Bay-Waveland area which was open to the public on March 29, through the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs. I'm sure I speak for all who took advantage of this opportunity. Hosts and hostesses were most cordial in their welcome of those viewing the displays.

Of special interest were the lovely antiques in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Lebon, Jr., 1000 North Beach Road and the display of antiques at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neill Jeffrey, Jr. Those who have a special love for old china and glassware enjoyed the dining room at "Swoop Manor," 414 South Beach Blvd., a home which has been occupied by the Swoop family for five direct generations. The old volumes shown at St. Augustine Seminary were of special interest. Too, the stained-glass windows were lovely to see.

Panama Canal

April 2, 1978

The Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

MEN OF HONOR?

The controlled news media is making every effort to suppress the facts regarding the Canal Give-away. While the President mis-states the facts, or ignores them, and 88 to 70 senators betray their constituents, loss of direct canal control will unquestionably deal a death-blow to America's continued sovereign independence.

What the President and his puppet senators do not talk about: the value of the Canal for logistics support in assembling a Marine Amphibious Force to counter an attack on Western Europe by Warsaw Pact Forces; the role of the Canal in facilitating shipment of munitions to an Asian military operation in Korea; the role of the Canal Zone as an advance base to support a carrier task force operating near the Pacific Coast of South America.

By Treaty terms we give up not only our sovereign rights, but also the Panama railway, virtually all the land in the Zone, all the housing and other buildings, airports, wharves and other installations, with a book value of billions, and without compensation. The Port of Cristobal on the Atlantic side, has five piers capable of handling major ships; there is a 30-ton diesel locomotive crane with a 250-ton lift. The Port of Balboa on the Pacific side, has 16 piers including a 1,000-foot dry-dock with a 50-ton gantry crane. Rodman Naval Station has 3 more piers. Howard Air Force Base has an 8,500-foot runway with 275,000 square yards for aircraft storage, to support naval operations 1,500 miles all directions.

The economic provisions of the Treaties involve a perpetual rip off of the American consumers and taxpayers. The U.S. is by far the most frequent user of the Canal. The marketability of U.S. products abroad will be decreased by a precipitous toll increase, with consequent increase in unemployment. Hemispheric defense will be seriously crippled and national security seriously impaired. The controlled press is silent while the Administration and the U.S. Senate ad lib and distort the facts. They sacrifice American strategic interests to protect the bankers' capital invested in Panama. The banks may not weather the financial storm, unless Torrijos bails them out when the great "steal" has been accomplished.

We the citizenry will become the sacrificial lamb, but with further implications. The Communist Plan for a U.S. takeover; increase internal moral decay rendering the citizenry unwilling or incapable of resisting a foreign takeover; Marxist powers forge a strong military perimeter around the U.S.; blackmail is made possible by tremendous Soviet superiority in nuclear weapons.

A complete "turn-around" in American foreign policy is long past due, if American Sovereignty is not to be annihilated. Obviously the Carter Administration and its senator puppets will not accomplish this. Let us make it clear that "We, The People" will dictate our National Future. We need no other. Nor do we need the unworthy "88".

RIVER DIVERSION - Mississippi Attorney General A. F. Summer, center, met this past week with Senator Martin Smith and Representative Lonnie Smith, left, for a briefing on the problems involved in the diversion of the waters of the Pearl River, at the Capitol Building, Jackson, where maps, aerial photographs and other data was displayed. These displays were placed in support of the Concurrent Resolution directing the Attorney General to investigate the diversion and to take such legal action, on behalf of the State of Mississippi, as may be required. That Resolution, together with an appropriation of $25,000 to implement it, was passed recently by the Mississippi Legislature.

Speed bumps...

Thad Haskins, principal, HNC, said the schools activities fund had been able to pay bills reaching back as far as 1968, and the school is about to get out of debt, but it lacked sufficient balance to provide additional programs. He invited the supervisors to visit the school and "have lunch," to see first hand the extent of their woes.

Board Attorney Walter Gex, III, said the supervisors were limited in the extent of assistance they could provide, the school board being the primary source of financial assistance to county schools.

He said as far as he knew the supervisors were limited to paving, and possibly hauling some fill dirt.

"They (the supervisors) have a problem with the state auditors, as this stuff has to be charge somewhere," Gex allowed, adding that two state officials were presently reviewing the county's books and suggested the educators talk it over with them before returning to North Central.

Gex is to forward a copy of the list of needs to the attorney general in Jackson for his review and opinion as to what areas can be lent assistance by the supervisors.

Beat 3 Supervisor Oscar Peterson called attention to the fact that the re-routing of the main road was simply beyond his budget.

This the school officials had acknowledged in their presentation, asking the action be kept in mind however at budget time.

Peterson, who was thanked by Haskins for the help he has already extended to the school, said the re-routing job was beyond his reach as it involved purchase of rights of way or obtaining of easements, construction of base, ditches, grades, and all other requirements of a brand new road.

"This is a major undertaking, the re-routing of a road clear around the campus housing, recreational area, and football field," Peterson explained.

He, and the other supervisors, suggested installation of speed bumps to traffic speeds through the school area.

"A few good bumps will slow them down or take off their front ends," supervisors suggested.

County Roads...

with one and a half inches of hot bituminous plant mix asphalt," the county engineer reported.

He said cost for the undertaking would amount to $34,230, a sizeable figure.

Supervisor President Alton A. Kellar, Beat 2, said he has a road in his beat which has had 26 culverts broken due to the sudden impact of overload traffic.

Supervisors are to meet with the oil companies in an effort to reach some agreement concerning policies for oil field equipment moving in the county and the assumption by the companies involved of road repair bills.

Saying "something is definitely going to be done in my beat," Oscar Peterson, supervisor of Beat 3, who has frequently complained of overloaded trucks causing extensive damage to the Standard-De Lisle Road, due to their using the route to haul gravel and other materials to Du Pont in DeLisle, added that "one fast-moving, overloaded gravel truck equals the road impact of 8000 automobiles."

Earlier in the year he warned truckers to observe the 10-ton load limit on the road, or be subject to arrest, but later complained he could get no cooperation from the sheriff's department concerning patrols on the roads.

"Nine out of ten of the trucks are running with no insurance and no tags," Peterson claimed.

He said that while the roads are built with state aid funds, they are maintained with county money, but the repairs needed to fix the fast crumbling edges and forming pot-holes are already exceeding budget limitations.

To illustrate his point, Peterson said a road costing $15,000 a mile to lay, will cost $20,000 a mile to repair.

Board Attorney Walter Gex, III, was asked by County Engineer Larry Seal to investigate the feasibility of applying for Agriculture and Industry Board funds to fix county roads damaged by industrially related overloads.

An application has already been made by Burk and Associates on behalf of the county, to apply Coast Energy Impact Program Assistance funds to repair roads throughout the county sustaining oil-industry related damage.

Other 308 Coastal Zone Management Program, Energy Impact Fund county programs being applied for by Burk include: Port Bienville Expansion Program, Bayou Caddy Harbor Master Plan, and the Vehicular Transportation Study (Waveland Gas Fields).

County Agent John Smith, also reminded the association that the Farmer's Market, originally scheduled to reopen May 6, had now put its opening date back to May 20, due to the building being needed for horses and the rodeo.

In a separate matter, Breaux told his association the local and private bill authorizing the county to sell up to $150,000 in bonds for fair ground improvements had passed both houses and is awaiting signatures. The issue Breaux explained, will be repaid from existing quarter mill of county tax money currently allocated for capital improvements.

them to formulate plans.

"The details have not yet been worked out but our committee is to meet within the next two weeks to try and establish the ground rules for this year.

"We have to be concerned with several facets and apply ourselves to the task of giving the public a good fair, avoid undue duplication of effort and type of attraction, yet provide an equal distribution of opportunity."

Entertainments Chairman Horn enjoined Murphy in the magnitude of initial planning.

"We are just coming off the ground with a new approach.

"Soon, the call will be going out for volunteer musical groups of all types: rock, country, jazz, and popular; plus entertainers of all types and descriptions willing to donate their time and talent to the fair."

Horn, an old time "song and dance man," said he has no fixed ideas yet but is open to all suggestions to let something new happen each night, "on the hour, every hour."

"We want to get into presenting a first class line-up of acts, bands, and groups."

City rezones, to amend subdivision rules

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay Commission Council on Tuesday, authorized a zoning change to C-2 for Ulman Avenue from Second Street to the Dunbar Avenue on recommendation of their Planning and Zoning Commission.

Originally the Commission recommended a change from Beach Boulevard to Dunbar on Ulman, but a petition was submitted by the residents of the first block, requesting it remain as residential.

After a lengthy discussion council on a split 3-2 decision accepted the preliminary plat of Henley Place Subdivision, Councilmen Pete Benvenuti and Fred Wagner casting the "nay" votes.

Mrs. Marcia Artigues and Mrs. Joyce Glindmeyer are listed as owners of Henley Place, with George Covington of Canton, as engineer.

Council was updated on their planning and zoning commission findings in checking the preliminary plat. Commission Member Paul Vegas submitted a lengthy letter outlining changes in the plat he felt necessary for it to comply with Bay St. Louis' subdivision regulations.

In the commission's report Chairman Jay Triche added additional recommendation needed for the subdivision's compliance.

The commission's minutes also showed lengthy discussion concerning definition of requirements of a preliminary plan and a final plan.

Both commission and council agree on the need to rewrite city subdivision regulations; particularly those areas defining the requirements of preliminary and final plats, a job entrusted to Commission President Jay Triche.

Council approved a requested amendment to the zoning ordinance, exempting, only with approval of the commission, city lots of record or parcels of one-ownership from the zoning ordinance and subdivision regulations, provided the parcels meet other ordinance requirements.

Council also authorized an ordinance requiring five working days between application and issuance of privilege licenses, to enable the city clerk to check the zoning map to see if the proposed business is in a proper zoning area, and a second ordinance stating that any unlawful subdividing of lots in Bay St. Louis is unlawful. A fine up to $300 and/or 90 days in jail, has been set as penalty.

In other action regarding subdivisions, Bay Council adopted recommendation for the deletion of one paragraph of the Subdivision regulations to be replaced with another. The ordinance deals with the subdivision receiving a certificate from the city engineer to the effect that all streets in the subdivision are improved and covered with all-weather and asphalt paving and have proper drainage, sewers, water and gas.

Council heard Historical representative Mrs. P. Gibbins in reference to a city survey and will continue on April 12, with Ronnie Murray of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission as well as state representatives from the State Historical Society. Council's approval of $300 for Boy Scouts and a temporary salary increase of $100 per month for Bill Johnston in the Utilities Department. Council was unanimous in support of the mayor's requests.

Because of lack of time, City Clerk Eddie Engelhorn's request for an auto allowance was tabled until a recessed meeting, April 14.

Fair policy...

"Possibilities under initial review include, but are by no means limited to: a country music night - to finish with an old time fiddling contest, a rock night, a battle of the bands, guitar and banjo pickin' contests, square dancing, and possibly the first annual, wall to wall, multi-band, County Fair Family Dance - For Folks From Three to Ninety-Three"

Here too, the chairman allowed, a call will go out following the first committee session.

Both chairmen said the intention of the association is to make the fair more fun - for everybody, with a greater number of events and activities in which everybody can participate.

"We are open to all and every suggestion, entry, and voluntary group participation," Murphy said, adding, "We are moving away from the traditional, and opening this annual county event up to complete community involvement."

"It is our fervent hope the community will respond and participate to their utmost extent."

Murphy also said the new concept would permit all the money to be spent and kept in the county instead of the majority of it leaving with the midway.

The train that hauled for the Sullivan fight

by S. Grady Thigpen-Hancock County historian

By S. GRADY THIGPEN

In 1889 the longest and the most famous passenger train ever to run through Mississippi went north through Picaune early one morning loaded down with passengers. It was a double header, two engines pulling it. All the seats were filled and the aisles were packed with men.

Never before or since has there been anything like it. People along the railroad and in the towns stared in surprise and bewilderment at this unusual phenomenon. There would have been many more men on this train if they could have gotten on it. On this train were two of the most written about and most talked about men of that time - Sullivan and Kilrain. They were on their way to Richburg, Miss., to fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Jim Sims, who lived in the Yamacraw or Pine Grove area, northwest of Picaune, told H. V. Henley of Eureka, California, about this unusual train. Jim Sims rode that train and saw the world famous fight, a fight that is written about and discussed down to this day. He told Mr.

Henley as follows: "The authorities would not give permission for Sullivan and Kilrain to fight in New Orleans. The fight had been advertised and multitudes of people from all over the world had gone to that city to see the fight. They then planned to have the fight just outside the city limits of New Orleans, but at the last moment the State of Louisiana would not permit the fight in that state.

"The promoters then chartered a train with all the coaches two engines could pull. Only a few of the many who wanted to go could get on the 19 coach train. They tried to get permission to put the fight on in Mississippi but it was against the law in this state. But anyway, the train pulled out loaded to overflowing going over the Louisville and Nashville Railroad in the direction of Bay St. Louis. This news was telegraphed ahead and Mississippi officers rushed to Bay St. Louis to stop the fight there. However, the start toward Bay St. Louis was a subterfuge to deceive the officers for, as it got out onto the edge of New Orleans, the train was switched over on to the N.O. and N.E. tracks and headed north.

"As the train entered Mississippi at Nicholson they began to watch for a good place to put on the fight. Up toward noon, in the very hottest part of a summer day, the train arrived at Richburg, just South of Hattiesburg, where there was a big open area covered in saw dust. The train stopped there and in a short time the big fight for the world's heavy weight championship was on.

"It was real hot and sweat poured off the fighters in streams. They fought 75 rounds. The ring in which they fought looked like a slaughter pen."

Following this description of the fight, H. V. Henley of Eureka, California, then 79 years old when this was written, wrote: "Jim Sims made a lasting impression on me when I was a boy living out in the Yamacraw, or Pine Grove area. He was a man of some learning, the son of an old time school teacher. He was a model of politeness, slender, tall, debonair, and wore a coal black mustache and side burns. His father died when he was young. Jim never married but devoted his life to the care of an invalid mother and an afflicted sister. He was poor so far as money was concerned, but he was rich in good deeds and had a heart of gold. He was that rare phenomenon, an individualist."

In this same letter, Mr. Henley also wrote the following:

"My father was accidentally killed in a saw mill at Lacey, now called Carriere, when I was a small child. In 1890, my mother married G. W. Cooper. They first took up residence at a place called the Clark Sloan place, but now known as the Leo Seal place at Yamacraw. My grandfather resided at what was called the Calhoun old place about a half mile across a reed brake from where my mother lived. I stayed with my grandparents most of the time, but when my step father, a logger would go off to deliver his logs down river to Logtown, or other mills, my mother, to keep from being alone, would take me to her place to keep her company until her husband returned. Their house was a small single pen log cabin.

"My mother and I would care for the livestock while her husband was on a log drive. Our cattle and hogs ranged on a so called island between the reed brake and Parker Bayou south of Black Creek. During the winter the cattle would be driven across Pearl River to what was called the west field. The cattle stayed fat all winter long. At such times my step father would 'salt' the cattle at least once a month. He used rock salt placed in holes cut out for that purpose in fallen logs. The cattle knew his call and would meet him at the salt logs when they heard his voice. We were fortunate in never losing cattle in high water. These cattle were in fact part mine from inheritance from my father.

"Once my mother and I went fishing on Parker Bayou. It was later in the afternoon when we got there, but she soon had a large string of fish. It was nearly dark when we started back home. Just as we had kindled the fire and were starting to prepare supper, a panther screamed just outside the house. It had gotten on our trail and had followed us home. The panther began circling the house and screaming. My mother unleashed our faithful dog Watch. He chased the varmint around the house several times, and eventually up a pine about 100 yards from the house. My mother always kept on hand a good supply of dried splinters about 3 feet long. They made good, long lasting torches to travel by in the dark. When old Watch treed the panther, mother lit a torch, put on a coat and took a double barrel shotgun loaded with buckshot and told me to follow her. It was still raining and vision poor. We never saw the panther because it saw us first and jumped out of the pine with old Watch on its heels. He chased it out of hearing and returned home without a scratch.

"My Mother was a good example of pioneer women. She could ride horses and rope cattle as well as a man. She never called a veterinarian because there was none to call. She knew how to, and did doctor ailing cattle and horses of our own and those of neighbors and never lost a case. She learned this art from her parents and grandparents. People back then had to be self dependent, they had to do things for themselves.

"In the days of my boyhood, my grandfather, James Seal, was both captain and pilot of a steam boat, 'The Earl', which made regular trips from Columbia to New Orleans. At rare intervals he went up the river as far as Jackson. We always met him at Walkiah Bluff. When miles away he would begin blowing his whistle to let us know he was on the way. We could tell it was Grandpa by the way he blew it.

"Grandfather had a large dog named Bounce at the same time we had old Watch. Our neighbors also had dogs. Everyone let their dogs follow them to the steam boat landing at Walkiah. One time when we went to Walkiah with our dogs some sheep men put poison on the roads and paths leading to the landing. As a result many fine dogs died that day. That very night many sheep were shot and piled up throughout the area. The result was that all the sheep that lived through the slaughter were forthwith moved out. Later a sheep man shot our dog with a revolver. Old Watch went into the swamp and stayed several days. We thought he was dead, but he came home and lived even though a 38 bullet had torn through his breast. There was occasionally trouble between dog owners and sheep men. Tempers flared and vengeance was sure in that neighborhood.

"One of my first memories is of my step father giving me a beautiful white mare colt when I was about five years old. I kept her 17 years. Mr. Dow Cooper broke her for me. At the age of eight I was riding her on cattle with her. She was the best cattle pony I ever rode. She was mean and would bite and kick me but she could never throw me. These bad qualities turned into virtues when it came to handling wild cattle. I never had to use the whip as she would bite and kick recalcitrant cattle until they would fall in line. All this was, of course, in the long ago - I haven't ridden a horse in 40 years.

In 1893 or 1894 my step father decided to build another, larger log cabin joining the smaller one they were living in. He cut and peeled the logs and split the boards for the roof. He cut blocks from a fat lired tree for foundation blocks. The sills were cut from smaller lired trees. Such sills and blocks have been known to last for a hundred years. Having hauled all the building materials to the building site it was the custom to have a house raising. On this particular occasion men came from Henleyfield and from Yamacraw and from in between to help erect the new house, many bringing their wives and children with them. All brought baskets of food. After the house was erected, they had a picnic dinner under the many oaks surrounding the house. When all had dined, the ladies went into the house and had a talkathon, while the men relaxed in the shade of the lovely oaks, and swapped stories. That is when I heard Jim Sims tell the story of the Sullivan-Kilrain fight."

Best rose growing conditions given

Roses grow best in clay soil that is slightly acid (pH 5.5 to 6.5), according to Jim Perry, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service horticulturist.

"Have your soil tested," suggests Perry, "and adjust pH or correct other fertilizer needs. Work soil at least a month before planting."

Perry suggests spacing hybrid teas, grandifloras and polyanthas three by three feet in a bed. Space floribundas four feet by four feet; miniature roses, one foot apart. Plant hybrid perpetuals five feet apart, and climbers at least 10 feet apart.

"Make individual planting holes at least twice the size of the root mass and 12 inches deep. For several roses in a continuous bed, prepare bed by spading soil to a depth of about 12 inches. Dig planting holes in this prepared bed.

"Loosen soil in the bottom of the hole and work in about half a spade of well-rotted manure. Don't use fresh manure," he warns; "it could injure roots."

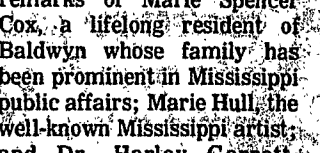

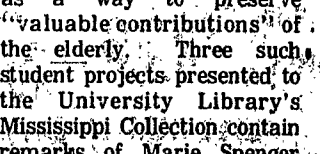

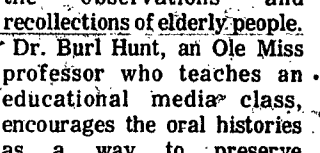

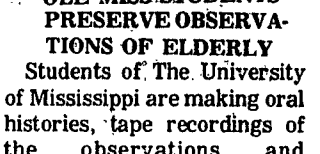

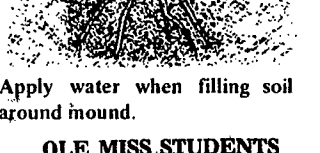

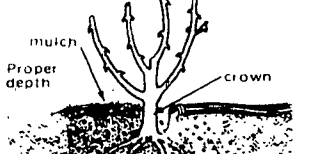

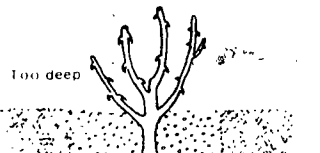

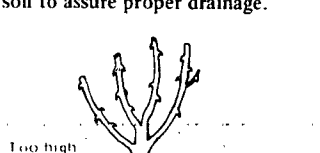

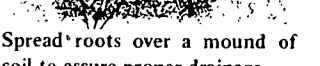

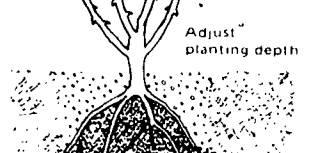

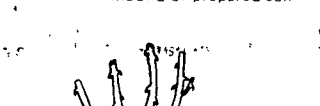

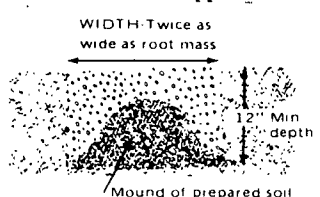

Make a small mound of prepared soil in the planting hole and spread plant roots over the mound. Cover roots thoroughly and cover about one inch of the plant stem; avoid planting too deep or too high.

Much newly planted roses with a three to four inch layer of pine straw or pine bark. During dry periods, water thoroughly every eight to twelve days.

"Although the specific amount of fertilizer to use should be based on soil test results, most garden soil in Mississippi benefits from three applications of a 9-12-12 fertilizer at the rate of three pounds to each 100 square feet of bed. Apply first in March, second in June and last in August."

History of beef cattle now in making for state

The Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce is in the process of preparing a "History and Development of the Beef Cattle Industry" and needs any informational materials or photographs related to the subject, according to Commissioner Jim Buck Ross.

"The beef cattle have played a very prominent role in the progress of this area from the time of the first settlers on up to the present," Ross said, "and we want to record the development of the industry, step by step, to its current high national position."

Ross said the history will begin with an era long before statehood and progress chronologically through decades of problems and hardships, solutions and favorable times.

He said many individuals and organizations were instrumental in bringing about numerous advances and breakthroughs in the breeding, feeding and general management of beef cattle. All of these accomplishments have led to a program second to none east of the Mississippi River and among the top programs in the United States.

Persons having photographs showing any phase of beef cattle production including marketing, showing, shipping, herding, processing, grazing, feeding, or any other activity are asked to contact either Charlie Shotts, MDAC, P.O. Box 1609, Jackson, Mississippi 39205; Ed Robbins, Route 1, Shannon, Mississippi 38868; C.J. Jolly, Route 3, Box 294, Poplarville, Mississippi 39470; Thomas Johnson, 601 Davis Street, Winona, Mississippi 38967; Eddie Jones, 3875 155 North, Apt. 25, Jackson, Mississippi 39212; or Linda Bailey, P.O. Box 1609, Jackson, Mississippi 39205. The materials will be picked up and returned to the owner after use.

Ross said that in addition to photographs, he is also interested in obtaining written accounts of interesting links in the chain of events connecting the historical development of the beef industry.

All of the information must be factual and name a source such as an individual or publication.

Deadline is nearing for annual report

Time is getting short for those people getting social security checks who are required to file an annual report of their earnings for 1977, a social security representative said today.

The deadline for filing a report, when one is due, is April 17. Those missing the deadline may be subject to a penalty unless they receive a time extension.

People required to file an annual report are those who: —Received one or more social security checks during 1977, and —Did not reach age 72 before January 1977, and

questions and answers

—Had total earnings of $3,000 or more in 1977, and —Did not have all benefits withheld during 1977.

If people in this group did not receive an annual report form in the mail, or if they lost the one they did receive, they can get another form at any social security office.

There are other groups of people who, although not required to file an annual report, probably should do so, the representative continued. These people may be due benefits for 1977, but social security has no way of knowing unless a report is filed.

Q. I get a small widow's benefit from social security. The only asset I have is my car. Would it count against me if I apply for SSI payments?

A. Not all resources (assets) are counted in determining a person's eligibility for SSI payments. A car is not counted if it has a retail value of $1,200 or less or, regardless of its value, if it is used by the household for transportation to a job or to a place for regular treatment of a specific medical problem.

People planning to apply for social security disability benefits can help speed the application process if they get some information together beforehand, a social security spokesperson said today.

Social security disability benefits can be paid to disabled workers under 65 and their families, unmarried persons disabled before 22 on the record of a retired, disabled, or deceased parent, and widows and widowers 50 or over. People in these categories can receive benefits if they have a physical or mental impairment which prevents them from doing any substantial work and is expected to last 12 months or more or result in death. Workers must meet a test of recent work covered by social security to get benefits. People disabled before 22 and widows and widowers qualify on the social security record of a parent or husband or wife.

People considering applying should do so as soon as it appears their impairment will keep them from working for 12 months or more. This is true, the representative continued, even though no payments can be made to workers and widows or widowers for the first five full months of disability.

Before applying, people should get together as much of the following information as possible. But they should not delay applying even if they cannot obtain all the information. People at the social security office will help them get the rest.

The applicant's social security number.

When he or she last worked.

When he or she became sick or injured.

What kind of illness he or she has.

If no longer disabled, the date returned to work.

Names, addresses, and telephone numbers of doctors, hospitals, institutions, or clinics that treated or examined the person for the disability and the dates treated or examined.

If a veteran who received medical care in a service or VA hospital, the service serial number and VA claim number.

If the person has been working, a list of the kinds of jobs he or she worked at most in the 15 years before becoming disabled.

Names, social security numbers, and dates of birth of husband or wife and children.

Workers' compensation number if any.

People wanting more information about social security disability benefits can contact any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

Q. My mother is going into the hospital next month for an operation. What services will her Medicare insurance pay for? Are there any services Medicare won't cover?

A. When a beneficiary is a hospital inpatient, Medicare hospital insurance can pay for a semiprivate room and all meals; regular nursing services; costs of special care units (such as an intensive care unit); drugs furnished by the hospital; lab tests, X-rays, and other radiology services billed by the hospital; medical supplies and appliances; operating and recovery room costs; and rehabilitation services. Medicare cannot pay for personal convenience items; private duty nurses; the first three pints of blood in a benefit period; or for a private room unless it is medically necessary.

Q. I've only been working since I graduated from school last year. I know social security provides a monthly pension and Medicare for when I retire, but does it provide any protection while I'm working?

A. Yes. Social security provides disability and survivors insurance protection to workers and their families throughout their working years. If you become severely disabled, you and your dependents may be eligible for monthly disability benefits. Disabled people under 65 who are entitled to disability benefits for 2 consecutive years or more also are eligible for Medicare. If you should die, monthly survivors checks may be payable to your family.

Q. I'll be eligible for Medicare later this year. How much of my medical expenses will the medical insurance part of Medicare pay?

A. There is a basic payment rule under Medicare medical insurance. After you have $60 in reasonable charges for covered medical expenses in each calendar year, medical insurance will pay 80 percent of the reasonable charges for any additional covered services you receive during the rest of the year. There are some exceptions to this basic rule, however. For more information, ask for the leaflet "A brief explanation of Medicare" at any social security office.

I'M IN CHARGE HERE - Coach Billy Rhodes, center, explains way the game will be played to Mayor Larry Bennett of St. Louis, left, and Mayor Johnny Longo of Waveland. Longo jumped out to an early lead in the horseshoe contest at the Library's Field Day. Mayor Bennett put on a drive to even the score, when he was threatened by one of his constituents that he would move to Waveland if Bennett lost, but it wasn't enough boost as Longo won in the end. There are rumors around that Mayor Longo had many hours of practice under the direction of Waveland's City Clerk, Barbara Rappold.

THIS IS SERIOUS BUSINESS - Chancery Clerk John Rutherford and Tax Collector-Assessor Eddie Murtagh are discussing the rules of their big horseshoe contest Saturday. There was serious competition with Rutherford finally winning. Murtagh hasn't filed protest as yet.

Zengarling girl - TERRI KAY ZENGARLING

to be remembered at Kiln library

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bully Zengarling, on Sunday presented a check to the Hancock County Library System, as the first donation towards a permanent library structure in Kiln.

The Zengarlings made the donation in memory of their daughter, Terri Kay, who died as the result of an automobile accident approximately two years ago.

Announcement was made by the Hancock County Library System's Board of Trustees following the presentation, to the effect that the children's collection at the Kiln Branch would hereinafter be known as: "The Terri Kay Zengarling Memorial Children's Collection."

This was in memory of the "rich and dedicated devotion displayed by Terri to children and children's literature."

"She contributed to the library throughout her lifetime not only through volunteer services, but in use of the facilities..." the trustees' statement reads in part.

Donations to the Kiln Library Branch building fund may be sent to Prima Wusnick, library director, at the City-County Public Library, US-90, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, 39520. Further information is available at 467-5282.

As Bay, Pass win at D'Iberville

Tigerette Valada Lewis fleet-feets to tape for six track event firsts

The Bay St. Louis Tigerettes and the Pass Christian Pirates took first place honors in girls' and boys' divisions in an invitational track and field meet Friday at D'Iberville.

The Tigerettes, spurred by most valuable performer Valada Lewis, took first in six events. Lewis won the 50, 75, and 100 yard sprints with times of 8.4, 9.0, and 11.8. The Bay girls' relay team of Lewis, Janet Sheppard, Gloria Hargett, and Cynthia Jackson crossed the line in 34.2 seconds for the 200 yard relay victory, followed up by wins in the 300, at 34 seconds, and the 440 relay, at 51.2 seconds. The Bay High girls netted 46 points for the over-all win.

Dedeaux, representing Pass Christian's Lady Pirates, won first in the baseball throw and long jump, while teammate Fairconature won the high jump. Dedeaux also took second in the 100 and the 440 dash. Pass Christian relay teams placed second in the 300 and 440 events. The Lady Pirates tallied 40 points for second place in the meet.

Gene Lang won most valuable performer with victories in the long jump, 100 and 220 dashes, and assists on the winning 440 and 880 yard relay team. He turned in a distance of 20 feet three and one half inches in the long jump, ran the 100 in 10.4 seconds and the 220 in 23.6. The team of Swanier, Bailey, Lang and Dedeaux took the 440 relay in 45.7 and the 880 in 1:36.5.

The Pass Christian team of Harrell, Dedeaux, Dedeaux, and Saucier came in first in the mile relay in 3:44.1. The

MSU MAROON WHITE GAME

Mississippi State's annual Maroon and White intra-squad football game, slated for 1:30 p.m. Saturday on Scott Field on the MSU campus, will feature the half-time induction of four Mississippi State sports figures into the MSU Sports Hall of Fame. The inductees are Ralph "Rabbit" Brown of Starkville, Frank Chambers of Jackson, Billy Howard of Laurel, and Harold (Doc) Wendler of Baton Rouge, La. The annual game marks the end of spring training for the Bulldog football squad.

PLANTATION PINES FINALS

Marianna Underwood of Pass Christian and her partner Tommie Haigler of Pascagoula defeated Virginia Wagner of Bay St. Louis and Betty Roche of Biloxi, 6-4, 6-2, in the final round of the Women's 45 doubles Sunday in the Plantation Pines Tennis Tournament at Long Beach.

Pirates racked up 56 points over all to slip by d'Iberville with 55½.

The Bay Tigers placed fifth in the meet, with Washington taking first place in the 880 yard run and Cain netting second in the 180 low hurdles. The team gathered 25 points over all.

Tigerettes are tops in sprint, distance relay

With first place wins in the 75 yard dash and the 440 relay, the Bay High Tigerettes won third place in a field of eight Tuesday in the Pas-Point Relays at Moss Point.

Host Moss Point took first place with 39 points with Biloxi in second at 35. The Bay girls tallied 30 points, followed by Pascagoula with 24, Gulfport with 13, Harrison Central with 12, Ocean Springs with 5, and George County with 2.

Sprinter Valada Lewis broke the tape ahead of the field in the 75 yard dash in 9 seconds flat, then teamed up with relay partners Janet Sheppard, Gloria Hargett, and Cynthia Jackson for the win in the 440 relay in 50.7 seconds.

In the 50 and 100 dashes, Lewis captured second place honors with times of 6.2 and 11.6 seconds. The Bay team won third in the 200 relay in 24.2 seconds and fourth in the 300 relay in 35.2.

In the field events, Cynthia Jackson notched a third place win in the long jump with a spring of 15 feet seven inches. Amy Hille placed fourth in the baseball throw with 218 feet two inches. There was less than three feet difference in the distances of the top five winners in the throw.

The Tigerettes will take part in the Goula relays Friday in Pascagoula.

LOW BOUNCE—SSC's Tommy Wild chases a low bounce in match against Danny Olsen of Ocean Springs. Olsen, who took the runner-up slot, in boys singles, defeated Wild in the second round.

Tie-breaker stops Hawks on home field

One East Central run in the top of the ninth broke a tie ballgame and gave the Hornets a 7-6 victory over the Hancock North Central Hawks Monday at Dedeaux field.

The Hawks went into the bottom of the fifth down 5-0, but knocked in five runs to tie up the game. Matching runs in the seventh kept the game up in the air at six all.

Jesse Draime went three innings for the Hawks, before turning the mound over to Barry Arcement. Each pitcher struck out one batter, while the East Central Hornets took nine hits including two home runs.

Todd Ladner led hitting for Hancock boys, drawing two hits in five time at bat. Rickey Peterson, Steve Nunn, Arcement, and Draime each got one hit.

"If we had been playing on any other field, our fielders could have caught those two home runs," commented David Ward, Hawk coach. "We have a short fence in our outfield."

"Our team has really been improving," he added. "With a few breaks, we could be 2-0 in district play instead of 0-2." Hancock meets Pass Christian at Pass Christian Thursday, then hosts Vandevale Saturday.

Bay hosts Long Beach Thursday then travels to Hiller Park in Biloxi to face St. Martin Friday.

Once again the IRS is boasting about how simple they've made it to prepare your taxes.

One look will tell you it's as simple as splitting an atom with a hammer and chisel.

Everyone knows tax forms are complicated, confusing, confounding and downright difficult to fill out. But every year some die-hards insist they can save a few bucks by doing their own taxes—a practice that can backfire at great expense.

You don't have to go through the aggravation of doing your own taxes. (You do have to go through the aggravation of paying them, however).

Let our tax-trained bankers at Hancock Bank prepare your taxes for you. We know the regulations; all the ins and outs of tax preparation.

Our expertise won't only save you a lot of time and effort. Quite possibly it could save you a little money.

This service is for personal tax preparation only. For business taxes, we advise you to consult with your accountant.

Lagarde won her opening match against Paula Daymond of Long Beach, 7-5, 6-0, and a semi-final bout with Vikki Devrow of Biloxi, 6-7, 6-3, 6-1. Third-seeded Robin Roberts of Pass Christian fell to Laurie White of Ocean Springs, 6-2, 7-5.

OLA's Joan Dickinson and Margaret Spotorno, seeded first in girls' doubles, finished off Kim Smilek and Dana Devrow of Biloxi, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, to win first place in their division. The pair took their opener, 6-1, 6-0, and the semi-finals, 6-1, 6-1.

Robbie Boyd and Don Fayard made a strong showing in second place behind Lee Morris and Terry Spatz of Gulfport. Boyd and Fayard beat Matt Titalo and Walter Sikora of Ocean Springs, 8-1, in the first round, revenging a loss the previous week, then trimmed Pascagoula's Brett Williams and Wayne Clark. In the semi-finals, the Bay High duo put Bill Briggs and Paul Nelson of Moss Point out of competition with a tally of 6-3, 6-4.

Edgar Santa Cruz and Phil Schmidt, playing for St. Stanislaus, were stopped in the second round by first-place-bound Morris and Spatz, 6-3, 6-3, while Coast Episcopal's Alex Brown and Owen Scales were downed by Briggs and Nelson, 6-4, 6-4. Santa Cruz and Schmidt won their opener against the St. John team, 8-0, and Brown and Scales defeated St. Martin, 8-5.

Fourth seeded Cynthia Collins and Colin Jones, representing Bay High, and the SSC-OLA team of Leslie Furman and Grant Chandler reached the semi-finals, but lost their matches to the first and second placed duos in SSC BASEBALL.

The confrontation between St. Stanislaus and Bay High's baseball teams, originally set for Wednesday night, May 12, has been rescheduled for 7 p.m., Tuesday, May 11, on Tiger Field.

mixed doubles. Jones and Collins lost to top-seeded Tommy Carter and Michelle McDonough of Ocean Springs, 6-1, 6-0. Chandler and Furman slid behind tourney winners Mark Haigler and Janie Kellam, 6-4, 7-6, losing the tie breaker, 5-4. Jones and Collins won their first match of the day, 8-0, over St. Martin, then eased by Kevin Kilgrew and Robin Swan of Long Beach, 7-5, 7-6, taking the tie-breaker, 5-0. Chandler and Furman downed Steve Ulrich and Jennifer Humphries of Pass Christian, 8-0, in their opener, then edged third seeded Simpkins and Petty of Gulfport, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3.

In boys' singles action, Tommy Wild of St. Stanislaus won his first match, 8-1, but defeated in the second round by runner-up Danny Olsen of Ocean Springs, 6-3, 7-5. The top player, David Faust of Pascagoula, ended the day for Pat Barnes of Pass Christian, who reached the second round by defeating St. Martin, 8-1. Jeff Alexander of Long Beach, after taking his opener over Coast Episcopal's Owen Scales by default, sent Lester Martin of Bay High home, 6-0, 6-1.

SWAT - Lady Pirate Robin Roberts takes a determined swipe at ball in contest with Laurie White of Ocean Springs. White won the match in a close, 6-2, 7-5.

OVERHEAD SHOT - Leslie McNair of Coast Episcopal reaches for a high bounce during contest with Lassiter and Terringo of Gulfport in Saturday's Coast Invitational at Diamondhead. Entertaining Ideas

by Laura Wells

Webster defines a shower as a "party at which a number of gifts are presented to the guest of honor." It is also a joyful occasion filled with the anticipation of a happy event, usually a wedding or a new arrival.

There is no mention in Webster of the exclusivity of the female sex at such parties and it is pleasant to see that this tradition is gradually giving way. When or where was it ever decreed that men were not interested in gifts for their future home or offspring? The next time you plan such a party, why not consider including the men on your guest list.

Showers are usually planned around the guest of honor. His or her favorites should provide an excellent starting point for menu planning. One of the simplest and most festive party favorites is an elegant punch bowl. Filled with a sparkling punch adorned with fresh strawberries, it transforms an ordinary party into a celebration. Here's the recipe for one of my favorites:

2 quarts water
2 cups Boodles Gin
1 1/2 cups Leroux Cherry Flavored Brandy
1 1/2 cups lime juice

1/2 cup superfine sugar
3 quarts club soda
1 pint strawberries
3 limes, cut in thin slices

In a 2-gallon punch bowl, combine Boodles Gin, Leroux Cherry Flavored Brandy, lime juice, and superfine sugar. Stir well until sugar dissolves. Gently stir in the club soda and float the strawberries and lime slices on top. Float an ice block in the punch and let stand 15 minutes until well chilled. Makes approximately 16 punch-size servings.

Finger sandwiches, cut in fruit shapes, and a raspberry parfait is all you need to make this menu complete. If you want more substantial fare, serve a favorite one-dish casserole, and a raspberry chiffon pie.
